

Ultra-Secure Solution for Data-In-Transit

Trust is possible with a fresh approach. KnectIQ's ultra-secure ZeroTrust technology keeps bad actors from gaining access using valid credentials - today's most vulnerable threat surface.

Easy to deploy. Fully auditable. Less expensive. More secure.

Millions, if not billions, of dollars are spent globally on sub-optimal security solutions that leave network access and data-in-transit vulnerable to compromise. Even more concerning, any bad actor with valid credentials can access networks and valuable data undetected for long periods of time. The problem is clear—stored keys and credentials are critically vulnerable. Current identity and key management approaches have proven inefficient and ineffective. A fresh approach is necessary.

KnectIQ's unique solution is simple, yet revolutionary. Eliminate stored keys and credentials. KnectIQ's patented and patent-pending technology complements existing security stacks. Assure only authorized access to networks and devices. Reduce or eliminate key management expense. Confirm and audit the security of data in transit for every transaction. The result is a security ecosystem that protects data-in-transit and prevents the unauthorized use of valid credentials.

KnectIQ is the unique solution to these important problems across many industries, ranging from healthcare to banking.
